Description of Incident

The policyholder reports that on the night of November 26, 2025, their home was broken into while they were away for the weekend. The policyholder states a rear window was forced open and several items were taken from the living room and home office.

The policyholder did not discover the incident until returning home on the evening of November 28 and states they contacted local police the following morning, November 29, to file a report.

Items Reported Stolen

One laptop computer, model unspecified: estimated value $1,400.

One television, 55-inch: estimated value $650.

Assorted jewelry, itemized list attached separately: estimated value $7,725.

Policyholder Statement

"We came home Sunday evening and found the back window open and things missing. We called the police the next morning once we had a full list of what was gone. We don't have an alarm system, so there's no other record of when exactly it happened."
